TOP TIPS

for a successful Chambers USA submission

FEATURING

Kushraj (Kush) Cheema

North America Research Director
at Chambers and Partners

01

BE SPECIFIC

Let us know about your particular strengths, niche areas of expertise, and distinguishing characteristics.

What makes your practice stand out specifically?

02

BE SELECTIVE

We look for evidence of technical expertise in complex, cutting edge matters, for the most sophisticated clients.

Look to include precedential, bet-the-company, high-value or novel matters affecting business clients.

03

BE DIRECT

Let us know what you think of our existing coverage, whether we're overlooking a key facet of the practice, major trends or have omitted key players.

04

BE EFFICIENT

Work highlights should generally be concise, with a brief description of what took place and its importance.

05

GET IN TOUCH

If eligible referees haven't heard from us when they're expecting to, let us know and we will make every effort to reach out. If there are major updates to submissions, let the researcher know.
